Reason and Imagination - by William Blake. The Negation is the Spectre; the Reasoning Power in Man. This is a false Body; an Incrustation over my Immortal Spirit; a Selfhood, which must be put off & annihilated alway. To cleanse the Face of my Spirit by Self-examination.

Poem: Reason and Imagination - by William Blake

A Defence of Philosophy: Reason and Imagination. In his essay, "A Defence of Poetry", Shelley distinguishes reason from imagination in the following way: "Reason respects the differences, and imagination the similitudes of things. Reason is to imagination as the instrument to the agent, as the body to the spirit, as the shadow to the substance.". Although Shelley had poetry in mind when he wrote these lines, it struck me that they're very illuminating as to the nature of philosophy...
